DESCRIPTION

This 2014 Nissan X-Trail dCi Tekna is a practical SUV that comes with a clear vehicle history check. Powered by a 1.6 litre diesel engine, this model is well equipped with a range of features designed for comfort and convenience. Inside, the cabin includes a leather gear knob and Bluetooth audio streaming compatibility, allowing for easy connectivity. The exterior is fitted with Bi-LED headlights that feature automatic dusk sensors, ensuring visibility is managed effectively. Additionally, the vehicle includes an electric tilt and slide panoramic sunroof, which adds a sense of openness to the interior.

This vehicle stands out due to its combination of efficiency and utility, making it a sensible choice for those seeking a reliable family car. It offers impressive fuel economy of 58 mpg and low CO2 emissions, which helps to keep running costs manageable. Furthermore, the model is placed in a low insurance group, providing additional savings. Beyond its economical performance, the X-Trail provides a large boot space, ensuring there is plenty of room for luggage or shopping, which makes it a versatile option compared to many other vehicles in its class.
